

Are you a family member looking for ways to help your young adult build connections in their community? Are you worried about what will happen to them once you are gone? Would you like to help them live independently and gain meaningful employment?

For individuals with disabilities, housing and employment are two of the largest challenges they face in achieving these goals.

Please join our friends from Neuro Diverse Living Inc. of Doylestown as they offer a series of discussions about housing, employment, and other topics. Participants are invited to join them as they explore ways to overcome these challenges and look ahead to discovering options for people with disabilities seeking to create a sustainable, long-term quality of life.

This first program offers two separate virtual times:

Wednesday, January 20th or Thursday January 21st – 7pm either night.
